Prefix- Industriality

This proposition comprised of Test 1. and Test 2. is related to two pre-existing works: I Blame the Industrial Revolution, a silkscreen by the English artist Jeremy Deller, and a fragment of the song Muevan las industrias by the Chilean band Los Prisoneros.

As both works refer directly to industrialisation in their text and lyrics, this new piece focuses first on how the meaning of the concept changes with a different prefix. Second, it explores how the repetition of the same sentence with semantic variations conveys multiple messages about industrialisation, sometimes similar, sometimes in contradiction. As such, it aims to imagine alternatives and to consider the effects of the terminology of industrialisation in several dimensions. ①

Eduardo Cruces (1987, Lota) is an artist and writer who lives and works between Istanbul (Turkey) and Concepción (Chile). He holds a Master of Arts in Public Spheres from École de Design et Haute École d'Art du Valais (Switzerland). His personal and collective research is focused on the phenomenon of deindustrialisation and its cultural impacts between art practices, landscape and social movements. He is currently a member of the collective projects: Archivo Artes Visuales Biobío, Mesa8, GCAS Latin America and Revolución Des-industrial.
